1 Purpose

This document provides definitions, requirements, and usage of COMMON LANGUAGE® Geopolitical Codes. COMMON LANGUAGE Geopolitical Codes are derived by Telcordia upon subscriber request, from state, province, territory, and country names, and also from certain unique locations throughout the world.

2 Scope

This Practice is directed to those who need to know the COMMON LANGUAGE standard codes for assignment, description, and application interface. This Practice is issued for use as a cross-reference to BR 751-100-050, COMMON LANGUAGE® Location Codes (CLLI™ Codes) Geographical Code Description, and to BR 795-100-100, COMMON LANGUAGE® Location Codes (CLLI™ Codes) Description for Location Identification. BR 751-100-050 provides definitions, requirements, and usage of COMMON LANGUAGE Geographical Codes, and BR 795-100-100 provides the basic rules and guidelines used when assigning unique CLLI codes to geographic locations and functional categories of equipment that are of interest primarily to the communications industry.

3 Reason for Issue

- This document revises and replaces BR 751-100-055, Issue 12, in its entirety and supersedes all other documents alleged to provide Geopolitical Code definitions or descriptions.
- Sections 5 and 6 have been rewritten to agree with Geopolitical Code information in BR 795-100-100.
- Tables A and E have been reorganized.
- Many informational comments have been added to Tables B and C.
- Table D provides history of Geopolitical Codes that are no longer in CLONES.

4 General

COMMON LANGUAGE Geopolitical Codes provide a standard for use in manual and mechanized environments. Geopolitical Codes used as part of the CLLI Code become an integral part of the various applications of manual, mechanized, and centrally developed systems. Telcordia is responsible for the assignment of all Geopolitical Codes.

5 Geopolitical Code

Geopolitical Name Description

Unless a need is demonstrated, all countries are not broken down into their political and/or subdivision. The geopolitical locations that have been subdivided are known as Geopolitical Codes. These include the states of the United States, (including the District of Columbia, U. S. outlying and Pacific Ocean territories), states of Mexico, provinces or territories of Canada, and unique locations, e.g., high seas and satellites. The remaining countries are identified by a code represented by their country name.

- A State of the United States is defined as one of the 50 states of the United States, the District of Columbia, or United States outlying and Pacific Ocean territories.
- Province or Territory of Canada is defined as one of the administrative subdivisions of Canada, or geographical territories (i.e., Yukon, Northwest, Nunavut) under jurisdiction of Canada.
- A State of Mexico is defined as one of the 31 states and the Federal District.
- Country is a territorial division usually defined as having independent national status, as well as a defined territory and government. In addition, some geographical areas such as provinces, territories, atolls, possessions, domains, or portions of a larger entity are also included in the listing of Geopolitical Codes.

Since the CLLI Code assignments were made before full code agreement between countries, these codes conflict with the International Standards Organization (ISO) - ISO 3166 standard. Listed below are two conflicting examples. Consideration was given to adopting the American National Standards Institute (ANSI) Country Code Standard (Z39.27-1984) and/or ISO 3166 as a Telcordia standard; however, because of uniqueness requirements, neither the ANSI nor the ISO Standard could be adopted for use by Telcordia.

Telcordia Standard	ISO Standard
CO - Colorado	CO - Columbia
CL - Columbia	CL - Chile

Geopolitical Code

The Geopolitical Code is a unique, 2 character code which represents a valid geographical entity as defined above. When the Geopolitical Code is used in conjunction with the geographical code (character positions 1-4), this 6-character code becomes a unique code worldwide.

For ease of use, Tables A and B contain the same information, but sorted differently.

- Table A lists the Geopolitical Codes in CLONES, sorted by Geopolitical Code.

- Table B lists the Geopolitical Codes in CLONES, sorted by Geopolitical Name.
- Table D lists Geopolitical Codes that have been removed from CLONES.

Geopolitical Code Format and Application

The Geopolitical Code is a unique 2-character fixed length letter code that represents a valid geographical entity. When the Geopolitical Code is used in conjunction with the Geographical Code (character positions 1-4), this 6-character code becomes a unique code worldwide. The Geopolitical Code, when used in any of the CLLI Code formats, always occupies character positions 5 and 6. The COMMON LANGUAGE Geopolitical Code is required to uniquely identify each COMMON LANGUAGE Geographical Code location.

Geographical Code (Positions 1-4)	Geopolitical Code (Positions 5-6)	Remarks
(a) (a) (a) (a)	(a) (a)	< Basic Edits
H R B G	P A	Harrisburg, Pennsylvania - (United States)
H L F X	N S	Halifax, Nova Scotia - (Canada)
A M S T	N L	Amsterdam, Netherlands
C E L Y	G J	Celaya, Guanajuato - (Mexico)

Geopolitical Code Requests

Requests to modify or expand this code set must be submitted by a COMMON LANGUAGE® Managed Information Services subscriber to Telcordia. Requests for Geopolitical Codes will be verified with either the United Nations or the USA State Department for validity as to country recognition.

6 Unique Locations

A unique location is defined as either a satellite in an earth orbit or body of water. Unique locations are assigned in the CLLI Code design system in the following way:

- Earth Orbit. When it is necessary to encode satellites in earth orbit, the 4-character COMMON LANGUAGE Geographical Code field is assigned the mnemonic code “STLT” (satellite), and “EO” (earth orbit) is assigned in the 2-character COMMON LANGUAGE Geopolitical Code field.

Example:

Unique Name	Geographical Code	Geopolitical Code
Position >	1 2 3 4	5 6
Satellite	S T L T	E O

- High Seas. High seas locations are off the land's edge without regard to the 3-, 12-, or 200-mile limit, etc., recognized by various countries. In assigning new codes, Telcordia will consider the international overseas regional coordinator (client input) to determine where the land ends and the body of water begins and the use of the high seas (HS) Code.
- Ships at Sea. When it is necessary to encode ships at sea, use the home port (port of registration) COMMON LANGUAGE Geographical and Geopolitical Code.
- Underseas Cable or Repeaters. When it is necessary to encode underseas cable or branching repeaters associated with cable, a unique 4-character COMMON LANGUAGE Geographical Code field identifies the body of water, and the mnemonic code “HS” (high seas) is assigned in the 2-character COMMON LANGUAGE Geopolitical Code field. The composite 6-character code will uniquely identify bodies of water, such as seas, oceans, lakes, gulfs, straits, bays, etc.

Unique Name	Geographical Code	Geopolitical Code
Position >	1 2 3 4	5 6
Bearing Sea	B R G S	H S

NOTE: CLLI Network Entity Codes (for switching and/or nonswitching) or CLLI Network Support Site Codes may be assigned to a high seas or earth orbit location, as appropriate. For a complete list of unique COMMON LANGUAGE Geographical and Geopolitical Codes associated with satellites and bodies of water, see Table C.
