

HANDSET CONNECTIONS

1. GENERAL

1.01 This section covers connections in the interior of handsets.

1.02 This section is reissued to show the modifications of the F3B-3 handset, to provide transmitter cut-out operation. In addition, the interior connections for the following handsets are included: F2E, F4A, F4B, F5A, G2A, G2B, G3B, and G4A.

1.03 Since interior connections for two or more handsets may be the same but the handset cords furnished with the handsets may differ, codes of handset cords are not shown on the connection diagrams herein. Information regarding cords used with handsets is included in Section C36.101, Station Cords—All Types.

1.04 Connections for handsets used only in special services are not included herein. In general, connections for these sets are similar to those shown in the diagrams which follow. Detailed connections for these sets are shown on circuit drawings or are included in the connections covering the special services with which they are used.
